

Your Pledge Supports Our Operations

We have changed and grown! Now, we are back in person for many activities, doing some things in a hybrid fashion – like worship – and doing other things solely via Zoom. In all we do, we connect and reconnect – whether it’s fostering our spiritual development, teaching our children, building our internal community, or promoting justice work to make our larger community a better and more equitable place.

While initiatives like the McKimm Strategic Investment Fund support special projects that advance our Mission and Vision, we need your pledge to provide the day-to-day needs of our congregation – paying our staff, keeping the lights on, and maintaining our building and grounds. None of this is possible without the financial support from congregants. including you!

The chart on the opposite side provides guidance on how much to pledge.

Thank You!

We are glad that you are part of UUCC and are grateful for the role you play in Connecting and Reconnecting. This is what makes us a successful community "within and without"

At UUCC, we foster connection, spiritual growth and intersectional justice.

Thank you for Connecting and Reconnecting!

As we’ve emerged from the pandemic we are all connecting and reconnecting. Your annual pledge to UUCC has never been more important. It provides the financial support that allows us to:

- Pursue our Mission of “Spirituality searching and growing”
- Provide resources to Youth Religious Exploration (YRE) for our children and our children’s children
- Advance our Vision to be a spiritual community with a “fierce, compassionate commitment to justice”
- Implement our Strategic Plan to “Expand activities and programs that foster engagement, connection and spirituality”
