The Interfaith Group Against Hate (IGAH) is a group of faith-based congregations from various religious traditions who have joined together to challenge the movement of White Supremacy and all of the hateful words and actions that come with it. We hope to provide a different vision for our society rooted in our common faith values which promote peace, justice, and the basic human dignity of each person. We seek a society where everyone can live, work, love and worship free from fear and bigotry.
